The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

Patriotism 1 – Disdain 0

First it was God. Students may not be led in prayer in our public schools.

Then it was our country. Students need not honor their nation and its people by rising or saluting the American Flag.

It has been more than a generation since students were being convinced that it was proper to respect one's parents.

Not all of them, of course. But the number is large and growing.

All of this is a heavy introduction to an incident when patriotism raised is pretty head at the San Diego Stadium early last week.

A youngish man San Diego listed as Rich Rudy, who represents a local radio station was sitting in the press box during a Padres game with some 40 or 50 other media people. The radio station is not listed here because the station management had no prior knowledge of this incident.

The National Anthem was played before the start of the game as is the custom.

All stood except Rudy. His answer to my question "why do you elect to remain seated during the playing of the Anthem?"

"Because it is stupid to stand (for it)," he replied. Later others in the press box asked him the same question. They got the same answer.

I, and others concerned ourselves about this show of patriotic disdain because we were offended. The man sat in the front row of the press sections. Seats in the section are spaced well apart which gives those occupying them a high degree of visibility.

With more than 25,000 fans in the stands that day it meant that possibly half of them could have seen Rudy's lack of concern for the ceremony by which we honor this republic through its symbols.

Constitutionally Rudy, and anyone else, may make his own decision whether to stand when an event historically demands it. But this case was slightly different. The man was a guest of the Padres management. He had eaten dinner which the management supplies to members of the working press. He had signed his name and radio affiliation in testimony that he had indeed been guest for dinner as well as a press box guest.

If he wanted to exercise his constitutional rights he needn't have chosen a front row seat to advertise his apparent disdain. He could have sat in his car in the parking lot until the ceremony was over and offended no one.

No media person needs to occupy the press box to cover a ball game. He can buy a general admission ticket and perform his dutes. This is noted only to indicate that press box privilege is a courtesy of the management and the management — both Ray Kroc and Buzzie Bavasi — are patriotic and generous people.

There developed a concern among some of us that bodily harm might come to Rudy at the hands of some patriotically motivated people.

Many of us served our country in time of war because we thought it proper and we carry with us a stirring of the heart when patriotic ceremonies are conducted.

All of this came to a head Saturday after the Old Timers game. The National Anthem was played as usual after the Padres took to the field to start the scheduled game.

Rudy again elected to remain seated. As the Anthem concluded Milford Chipp, a former Air Force officer and who now writes the Associated Press baseball wire service, walked down the aisle to confront the seated man. He had just opened the conversation when he was tapped on the shoulder from behind, and there stood Padres president Buzzie Bavasi. He had walked some distance from the owner's box after he spied Rudy seated in disregard for the patriotic ceremony. Chipp, who has known Bavasi for years stood aside.

Bavasi asked the man if he had press credentials. He did. Bavasi took the card and tore it up. He handed the man the tape recorder he had on his desk top and told him to leave. Bavasi escorted him to the press box door and instructed the guard not to let the man enter again.

Reporters seated around the incident applauded. Later a reporter was to tell Bavasi that he — the reporter — felt more like an American than he had in days as a result of the immediate action Bavasi took.

The esteem that many reporters have for Buzzie Bavasi as a man, rose. Not only was it due to the personal action he took when his patriotic sensitivity was injured, but because he did it himself. He has access to half a dozen security people within beckoning distance, but elected to handle the distasteful matter in person.

It has always seemed strange to me that nowadays so many of the causes that people espouse are supported under the cover of their "Constitutional Rights." The Constitution is almost childlike in its simplicity and trust. It makes no demands upon anyone that respect be paid to it. It even permits those who would change its meaning for their own benefit to do so without penalty. In the end it is those who hold the Constitution in the lowest esteem and declare the privilege to be their "Constitutional Rights" are ripping away the protective cover by which the rights were gained.

What one wonders will these people protect themselves with if the Constitution of this Republic is made into a trite piece of nonsense after thoughtless and sometimes frivolous interpretations are forced upon it.

Mouse Spoils Sears Good Record

Sears, Roebuck may not be perfect, but it tries. The Sears Mesa, Arizona store received a strange complaint last month.

The customer wrote to say that she had "always been pleased with 'anything I order at Sears'," and went on to describe her recent purchase of a black and white mouse that her young son purchased at the store's grand opening with a "loan" from his mother.

The Sears product performed to expectations until May 5 when the Sears product, now named "Cheesey," gave birth to seven offspring.

Obviously, the customer wrote, tongue-in-cheek, Sears had sold her "used" merchandise!

The Help That Failed

It's going to be difficult for today's generation to tell their grandchildren how they licked the depression by asking the government to do it for them.

Lemon Grove Fares Well In Collecting 2 Taxes

SACRAMENTO — State Comptroller Kenneth Cory has established an account for the new city of Lemon Grove with more than $4,500 in cigarette and $7,900 in motor vehicle tax collections.

Cory said earmarked for Lemon Grove will be $4,885 collected during June from cigarette taxes and $7,967 from motor vehicle taxes.

Comparatively, Lemon Grove collected more from the two tax sources than did the other San Diego County cities of Imperial Beach, Coronado, and San Marcos.

Imperial Beach collected $4,488 from cigarette taxes and $5,981 from motor vehicle taxes.

Coronado collected $5,247 from cigarettes and $6,415 from motor vehicles.

San Marcos collected $4,405 from the tax on cigarettes and $3,389 from the tax on vehicles.

Only one other city of comparable size to Lemon Grove collected more in cigarette taxes. In the city of Vista smokers paid $8,423 in cigarette tax during June.

The figures for Lemon Grove represented the first time the state has earmarked taxes to come back into the new city.

Senior's Property Tax Postponement Not Ready

County Tax Collector James E. Jones said he is receiving a number of inquiries from senior citizens about recent reports in the news regarding postponement of their property taxes.

Legislation to allow this postponement has not yet become law, according to the tax collector. A constitutional amendment which was approved by the voters of the state in 1976 (Proposition 13) authorizes the legislature to enact laws to permit seniors of low or moderate income to postpone payment of property taxes on their homes.

Jones said several bills are currently being considered by the legislature to implement the amendment. Senate Bill 154 and Assembly Bills 1070 and 999 are three of these bills.

Regardless of which bill becomes law, it will undoubtedly provide that homeowners over the age of 62 with income below a certain level — $20,000 has been mentioned — can defer taxes on their homes until the property is sold or is no longer used as a principal residence. This program is expected to be in addition to the senior citizen's property tax assistance program which is already in effect.

When the legislation is finally enacted and becomes law, it will most certainly be widely reported in the news, ones said, and state officials and tax collector will let senior citizens know how to proceed if they wish to take advantage of the postponement program.

L.G. Kiwanis to Expand Local Drive on Crime

In addition to its fight against a rising tide in narcotics and home burglaries, the club is distributing a manual, CRIME PREVENTION for YOU and YOUR COMMUNITY. Although the Lemon Grove Kiwanis club initiated the distribution, four major divisions (11 clubs) of San Diego and Imperial Counties (Divisions 11, 27, 31, 37) have joined them.

WINNING ART — Brent Larkin, 19, a draftsman for a firm of naval architects, holds a reproduction of the drawing he developed as the City of Lemon Grove. Larkin, who lives at 3421 Golden View Terrace, L.G., attended Mt. Vernon school, L.G. Junior High, Mt. Miguel high and Grossmont College. His was the best of 37 entries. He won a $50 Savings Bond presented by Dell's L.G. Badge and Trophy.
The design is of a lemon superimposed on the outline of the state with the stars and stripes in the background.
"It is the first contest I ever entered. I wanted the thrill of seeing my design on fire trucks and stationery," he said.

Recently a local newspaper pointed out that 95 crimes were committed on July 14, 1977, only to be exceeded by 97 committed the next day, July 15, 1977. Those victimized —men, women, and children— were part of the larger public that is uninformed about how to protect themselves on what to do to prevent this criminal tide from any further increases.

How to act when confronted by a criminal is vitally important, yet remains almost generally unknown by the public. Publishers of the manual, the local McAdams Systems, Inc., have put together 24 pages of colorful, easy-to-read-and-remember text including 18 photo illustrations and 24 line drawings of human images for auditing the criminal image.

A complete form for the victim to record a criminal's physical description, dress, and victim's name, address, phone number, type of crime committed, the amount of loss injury has also been included. Filled out immediately after a crime is committed, such a complete record is invaluable to law enforcement officials and lawyers.

Copies of the manual are available from any San Diego/Imperial County / Lemon Grove Kiwanian for $2 per manual or less when purchased in volume.

According to Bob Knauer, Lemon Grove Kiwanis president, the booklet should be in the hands of every citizen if the crime rate is to be checked.

"As a service club, we feel that in adding this project to our narcotics and home registration of valuables program, we are truly offering our community ways to protect themselves against criminals," said Knauer.

Old Timer Bob Browne Sells Shop, Retires

Lemon Grove veteran businessman, Bob Browne, is tossing in the towel.

Well, not exactly. He's throwing a retirement towel in a Maytag washer! the kind which has afforded he and his wife Helen a comfortable retirement income.

Browne has been in the appliance business locally 35 years — most of the time at 3282 Main st.

Recently he sold his business to Gordon and Barbara Rowett, natives of Leeds, England. The Brownes, however, are staying on at the shop a few more weeks until the Rowetts are firmly settled in their new business.

Browne, now 63, has been active in local organizations. He was one of the earliest Kiwanis Club members; later a Lions club member and a member of the L.G. Chamber of Commerce for more than 25 years. He is president of the South Bay Amateur Radio club and is past president of the S.D. Bureau of Home Appliances. He raced midget autos — small cars with a 15 cu. in. displacement and which reach 100 mph on 1/8 mile tracks. He raced nationwide and was ranked 5th in the nation at one time. He doesn't race now. He uses much of his time contacting people worldwide as a "ham" radio operator, and riding a bike with his wife to wherever their interest leads them.

'Great Way to See'

"It's the greatest way to see a city," he said.

Browne has been active in the L.G. Old Time Days project and was one of the sponsors of Lemon Grove incorporation when the first attempt was made in 1955. The group met in his store on Main st. It still has an "X" on the floor where the first meeting was held.

In the mid 60's Browne was active in the support of Bob Dent (deceased) for County Eupervisor, 2nd District. "He was a man of integrity and he cared for Lemon Grove," Browne said. Browne fits that prescription himself very well, too. He is a man of strong convictions and he has a reputation for honesty in his business dealings.

Clean Up Caper

For example, years ago, when the town had a "Clean Up" project, Browne used his truck to carry several loads of trash to the dump then located on Paradise Valley rd. A dump inspector saw him drive in and cited him for having no hauling license. He wouldn't listen to Browne's explanation about the civic project. Browne paid the $20 for a license and then fought the citation. The inspector lost his job and the court declared Browne innocent. He spent a lot of money and time fighting for what he considered an injustice.

He lives now in Paradise Hills, just south of Lemon Grove. He claims serving peo-

L.G. Fire Dept. Gets 10% Raise

Personnel of the Lemon Grove Fire Department was awarded a 10 per cent across-the-board raise Monday night at the annual budget meeting by members of the L.G. Fire Protection District board of directors. Requests for fringe benefits were denied except for a clothing allowance.

The raises are retroactive to July 1 — if the assessed valuation holds up so that anticipated income holds steady. Excluded from the increase are probationary firemen — men who haven't made the official team. There is only one.

The rate schedule for personnel — including the increase is:

Firemen — $1,421 a month
Engineers — $1,551
Captains — $1,719
Sr. Captains — $1,774
Chief — $2,168.

The district will be absorbed by the City of Lemon Grove on November 1, this year.

The tax rate will be the same as last year — 86.8 cents for each $100 assessed valuation.

The budget this year will be $582,563 for operational costs plus $81,000 for a new fire truck — a one-time expense. Last year the total budget was $537,923.

There's An Answer

By Mr. and Mrs.
Norman Vincent Peale

Depressed Widow

Q. It seems I am so lonely and depressed nearly all the time since my husband died six years ago.

It is taking a toll on my health as I suffer from arthritis of the spine and high blood pressure.

It also seems I have lost all desire in my home, which has been my pride and glory.

The thought of cooking or cleaning for myself upsets me so I just get uptight inside. I have to force myself to get the work done.

I keep myself busy in church and community work, but it seems I just can't get over this terrible fear something is going to happen to me. I really feel I need some help before it is too late to recover.

A. Fear of something going to happen derives, no doubt, from.. your husband's death and your ill health. But after six years of emotional trauma spurred by the loss of your husband, the emotional condition should have normalized.

The fear you describe has apparently developed into a chronic anxiety complex.

A complex is a tangled thought pattern, but it can be unraveled like a ball of yarn. To do that you will need to get your thoughts organized. That is done by the practice of healthy thinking.

Ask yourself every time a thought comes, "Is this a normal, healthy thought?" If it isn't, then cancel it out by substituting a positive, optimistic thought. The more you do this, the less anxiety will haunt you.

We have a booklet, "Overcoming Anxiety and Fear", which has helped others with questions such as yours, and a copy of it is on its way to you. Anyone reading this column who wishes a free copy may write for one. Address your request of Dr. and Mrs. Peale, Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Kill The Fattened Calf

Q. I have nine wonderful children and love them very much. Now my husband is retired, all the children are married and I thought we would be happy.

My children come home to see us on a Sunday. When one son and his family come I am flouted and fussed at by my husband. When the other eight kids come he is as calm as a kitten. Why?

The rest of the kids say there is a difference in the way my husband acts when this son visits. To me he is no different from the rest, but by husband is acting awfully.

I need an answer badly.

A. The problem seems to be something of an irritating nature in the relationship of your husband to this particular son.

Apparently you have had no hint of what this irritant may be. The fact that he "flouts and fusses" at you could indicate that for some obscure reason your husband is embarrassed while this son is present.

One wonders whether the son may have gone beyond his father's attainments, which in turn would tend to bring out an inferiority reaction on the part of your husband. A careful study of your husbands personality may turn up an insight which can lead to a correction in the relationship.

Perhaps you would like to find an answer for yourself to a problem that you can share with others in THERE'S AN ANSWER! If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling NY 12564.

Snake Control Aid

Rattlesnakes, more common this year around mountain homes because of the drought in California, are unable to dig or climb vertical walls and can be kept out of buildings through the installation of tight-fitting doors and screens.

Trash, lumber, rocks and other materials that offer shade or hiding places for snakes should also be removed.

Tourists Forewarned to Camouflage Their Cars

"When you go on vacation make sure that crime doesn't travel along with you."

—As you travel try to avoid having that "I'm a tourist" look about your car.

Vacationers' autos are frequently victimized because thieves know travelers often leave valuables in their vehicles. Maps and travel brochures left on the dash and seats are telltale signs that the occupants of the car are on vacation.

—Clothing hanging in a car or luggage on the back seat is an open invitation to car prowlers.

Even though it only takes a thief a very short time to break into the trunk of a car, your spare clothing and luggage are safer in the trunk. Whenever possible, do not leave those items in your car while the vehicle is unattended.

—Don't carry an excessive amount of cash. If it is necessary to travel with a large sum of money don't display it openly.

—And finally, don't leave valuables in your hotel or motel room. Most lodging facilities will provide a safe place for your valuables while you are staying in their accommodations.

4.7% Error Rate Logged by Benefit Payments Dept.

A three-year effort by the California Department of Benefit Payments to control improper family assistance payments in California has prevented more than $177 million from being spent in program errors.

The strict controls over Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) payments began in 1974 in accordance with national goals set by the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW). As a result, HEW has credited California with a savings of $177,512,000.

"California was one of the first states to respond to the quality control effort," said Benefit Payment Dept. Director Marion Woods. "This is reflected in our present dollar error rate of 4.7 percent, half the national average of 8.5 percent."

The error rate indicates money spent incorrectly through payments to ineligibles and overpayments to the 1.5 million AFDC recipients in the state.

"The degree of improvement we've shown," Woods added, "is chiefly because of strong cooperation with the counties, which handle the recipient caseload in California."

"Through quality control we have cut both the 'dollar' and 'caseload' error rates by more than half since January, 1974," he said. "The job that county welfare departments have done puts California several lengths ahead of other large industrial states in controlling AFDC errors."

California's 4.7 percent dollar error rate is almost third less than New York and Illinois, both at 12 percent.

In the federally-administered District of Columbia the AFDC dollar error rate is close to 20 percent, or four times that of California.

Residents of Lemon Grove and Spring Valley may apply for positions on the San Diego Regional Employment and Training Consortium's (RETC) Planning Advisory Council.

The Council administers some $75 million worth of federal funds each year for job training and employment programs throughout the county.

Deadline for filing applications is August 5 and appointments will be made by a committee of the RETC Policy Board in September. Application forms are available at RETC offices, 861 Sixth ave.

A drawing for a color television or a personal transportation Moped will be held at 4 p.m.

The proceeds from the ticket sales will be donated to the Home of the Guiding Hands.

Expo '78 Prices Up 50 Cents

Dates for the Southern California Exposition at Del Mar will be June 21 through July 4 in 1978 and adult admission will be $2.50 — up 50c over this year, however, children will continue to pay the same as they have for several years —50c for those between the ages of six through 12 and those under six years of age will be admitted free.

Directors of the 22nd District Agricultural Assn., which sponsors the Exposition, decided on the dates and admission prices during their July meeting.

"It still will be the biggest entertainment buy in the Southland," said General Manager Bill Dumond, "where else can you have 313 acres of entertainment and enjoyment for that price?"

Board President R. R. Richardson added two new committees to the policy making organization.

These are a Fairest of the Fair committee to be headed by Director Arline Straza, of Rancho Santa Fe, with Elaine Barnes and Chuck Badger, also directors, as members.

A parking committee will be headed by Frank Strauss of Leucadia. Other members of that committee are Directors Ernie Miller and Chaffee Young.

This Week's RECIPE

Frozen Apricot Dessert

Summertime is usually less than conducive to sweltering over hot stoves and those who enjoy nibbling will delight in a cold and juicy delicacy. This light, icecold dessert is easy to prepare and ideal to store in your freezer, and gives freedom from stove slavery. It also substitutes as a light lunch.

2 cups chopped, pitted, drained canned apricots
⅔ cup sugar
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 cup coarse vanilla wafers or graham cracker crumbs

Mix together apricots, sugar and lemon juice. Fold in whipped cream. Sprinkle the bottom of a 2 quart flat casserole with ½ cup of the crumbs. Pour in apricot mixture. Top with remaining ½ cup of the crumbs and freeze firm. Serves 6-8.

C-Cap Base Commander Needed for Lemon Grove

The work isn't easy and the pay is nil, but the rewards in community service are great, according to Donna Scott, Spring Valley C-Cap Base Commander.

C-Cap is the acronym for California Community Alert Patrol and members are identified by gold and black uniforms. There are no dues to pay.

The group is a law enforcement assistance-community service organization and is state chartered and non-profit.

C-Cap, during the past two years, has been involved in block-to-block programs, searches for missing children, assists to charitable organizations such as March of Dimes, Muscular Dystrophy and Heart Fund.

They've helped in disasters such as the Imperial County flood, and the La Paz hurricane Liza.

The group also served in the Lemon Grove Old Time Days Parade and were visible at the inaugural ceremonies of the City of Lemon Grove on July 1.

The candidate for base commander must be willing to work about 30 hours a week and must enjoy working with the public. Candidates must be over 21 and may be male or female.

Slogan of the group is "We are our brother's keeper". Candidates should call 466-1949, 463-6372 or write P.O. Box 1133, Spring Valley 92077.

Romance Blooms At Starlight

Fun and romance still go hand in hand at Starlight where "Cabaret" is now playing.

Fact has it that two more active Starlighters will be turning in their theatre love story into marital vows. On August 6, Robert W. Arnhym, 1st Vice President of the Executive committee for the San Diego Civic Light Opera Assn., and Gail Wolford leading lady in the Starlight production of both "The Sound of Music", in 1976 and "Paint Your Wagon" in 1975 will be the leading stars in their own very special production on their wedding day!

Gail portrayed various characters for Starlight including Hodel in "Fiddler on the Roof" and Jane Ashton in "Brigadoon". She had the role of Jennifer in "Paint Your Wagon" in 1975 and leading role of Maria in "The Sound of Music" in 1976. Robert Arnhym was also in "The Sound of Music" portraying Herr Zeller, a Nazi soldier. It is said that it was here that their romance blossomed.

In the past 32 years there have been almost the same number of marriages in Starlight as the total number of years. Included in this list are such marriages as: the highly successful director-choreographer team of Don and Bonnie Ward, Directors of this year's "Cabaret", also Charlie and Joy Cannon and Bennie and Millie Lamb.

Hayakawa Slaps Unitary Tax Plan

U. S. Senator S. I. Hayakawa (R., Calif.) expressed his support of a pending U. S.-UK tax treaty last week before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The treaty, opposed by the California Franchise Tax Board for allegedly costing California $120 million annually, would prohibit a state from applying the so-called unitary system to the English parent of a subsidiary doing business in the U. S.

Hayakawa considers the unitary system contrary to the best interest of his state since it would discourage foreign-owned multinational corporations to invest in California.

For Kids

FBI Director Offers Tips On Avoiding Criminals

F.B.I. director Clarence Kelly has sent tips on isolating children from criminal actions.

Kelly's tips are "common sense" measures designed to keep children alive, active and healthy.

Among the rules cited by the F.B.I. chief were:

— instruct children never to ride with strangers,

—tell them never admit to being home alone either on the phone or at the door,

—locate and point out a "block parent" or similar homes in the neighborhood or along the route to school and explain the meaning of such refuges,

—select one or two neighbors who will provide sanctuary for children should any threat or emergency arise while you are away,

—provide that neighbor with phone numbers where you can usually be reached and offer the same service to neighbors when they are away, —instruct children to look out for each other and to tell you when something unusual or suspicious occurs,

—report suspicious individuals or vehicles lurking in areas where children play to the police and obtain the license numbers and descriptions whenever possible.

—and be prepared to assist a child who appears lost or in trouble. Do not hesitate to notify the police if you think the child needs assistance.

Parenthood Program Backing Being Sought

Endorsement by civic agencies is sought for a comprehensive national program of preventive parenthood services in human production, soon to be presented to California congressmen and senators for legislative support.

The program was prepared by a task force of five organizations including the Planned Parenthood Federation of America as response to the Carter administration's "alternatives to abortion."

The program calls for a range of health and education services designed to reduce adolescence and unwanted pregancies, the incidence of mental retardation, the need for abortions and infertility.

The projected costs for the program amount to $410 million for the first year, $185 million more than present federal spending on family planning and related services programs.

T-Bone, Roast Prices Up 25%

New surveys conducted by the California Beef Council may spell bad news for t-bone steak and chuck roast lovers.

The two cuts have jumped in price 18 and 16 cents respectively between June 9 and July 14.

In early June, prices declined about 3 cents but the hot barbecue grills of the Fourth of July holiday caused a 4 cent increase.

Beef Council Manager Robert Rolston said the increases were seasonal and expected a decline in prices.

"We are approaching the moderate increases we predicted last spring and will probably reach a plateau of a few cents higher in the next few months," Rolston explain. "All we can say is that cattle numbers are on the decrease and this drives prices upward but how much is anyone's guess."

From price studies done in San Diego, the Council found drops in ground beef and round and sirloin steaks.

Ground beef prices dropped a penny, round steak dropped four cents, and sirloin steak dropped 14 cents between June 9 and July 14.

Padres on 4-City Road Trip

The San Diego Padres will be coming up with their own version of "Give My Regards to Broadway" as the club heads East for a 12-game road trip which covers four cities beginning today and ending August 9.

Following the end of the club's homestand tonight, the Padres will take right off for New York as there will be a weekend series with the Mets running from Friday through Sunday. The visit will be the Padres last of the season to the "Big Apple" and will also mark the Pads last games of the season with the New Yorkers.

Then, following an open date on August 1, the Padres will be in Philadelphia for three outings against the defending National League Eastern Division champion Phillies. As was the case with the Mets, the trio of contests will be the final meetings of 1977 between the two clubs. The Padres and Phillies will be matched up in single games on Tuesday- through Thursday, August 2-4.

The entire road swing will be the club's second longest of the season although the Padres did have one other 12-game jaunt earlier in the year when they were in a position of having to play 26 out of 33 games on the road from mid-May to mid-June.

As for the second half of the trip, the Padres will be appearing in Chicago for encounters with the Cubs August 5-7 with the two clubs engaged in a doubleheader on the getaway date, Sunday, August 7.

From Chicago, the Padres will then backtrack to Canada for a short two-game stand with the Montreal Expos on August 8-9. While the series with the Expos will also be closing out the season series between the two teams. the Padres still have three home contests remaining with the Cubs which will come on September 2-3-4.

During the road swing Padre fans will have the opportunity to see the club live on television once again as XETV (Channel 6) will send back the series finale with the New York Mets on Sunday, July 31. Game time is slated for 11 a.m. San Diego time Sunday morning.

The Padres will not be appearing at home again in San Diego Stadium until Wednesday, August 10 when the club meets the Atlanta Braves in a 6 p.m. doubleheader in the opener of a short five-game homestand.

Local Lads are Losers On Coliseum Card Fri.

Eddie "The Animal" Lopez, the heavyweight who has a 9-0 record and who earned his soubriquet by beating his opponents mercilessly, ran his string to 10 Friday night at the S.D. Coliseum by taking a TKO from "Dangerous" Dan Johnson in 5 rounds.

It was scheduled for 10 but Lopez shocked Johnson with hooks and overhand rights in the 4th and 5th rounds. His seconds were right in not letting him come out for the 6th round. He might have been seriously hurt.

Johnson is a fighter of recognized ability have a record of 28-7 — until Friday's 5th round.

Two local favorites suffered defeats on the card.

Welterweight Francisco Ortego the "Cisco Kid", of Pacoima, took out Bert Lee of Dulzura at 2:18 of the 4th and last round.

Featherweight Rene Silva stopped Irish Spud Murphy at 1:10 of the second round of a 6-round set-to. The referee stopped the fight when Murphy appeared dazed as he fell against the ropes following a flurry of Silva's rights and crosses. Neither fighter showed much in the way of defense. Murphy appeared to tire as the second round started.

In a lightweight scrap, Herman "Kid" Montes KO'd Rueben Martinez at :59 of the second of a bout scheduled for 6.

In a 3-round middleweight amateur opener there was a knockout at 1:25 of the first round. Juan Ruiz of Los Angeles stopped Pedro Martinez following an exchange of blows in which the fighters seemed evenly matched. Ruiz served up a good right hook and Martinez went down for the count.

Midgets Back At SB Speedway

The mighty midgets may have found in San Diego County that they have a new home—possibly an area where the foundation of major success can be achieved.

The boys of the United States Racing Club will be returning to South Bay Park Speedway's 117 banked quarter mile Friday night. Again, they'll share the billing with the slam-bang and wild-driving street stocks.

Last month, the midgets returned to the quarter-mile action at South Bay and the battles were tremendous. To some it was reminiscent of the old days at Balboa Stadium. However, the track at South Bay is banked and Balboa was comparatively flat.

Time trials for the midgets begin at 7 p.m. The first race is 8:15. The program includes trophy dashes, heats and a pair of mains, the streeters going 20 laps and the midgets 30.

USRC president Lou Stoltz assured promoter Don Basile that at least 24 midgets would be down while more than 20 streeters are expected.

The last time the midgets appeared in the area, they lured more than 3,000 fans at Cajon Speedway. This is an indication that the midget fans are back, Basile believes.

Drought Effects Slows Boating

Some of California's waterways may seem like California's freeways this summer, says the State's boating agency.

The reason: Many of the State's boating areas will be operating at reduced water levels and some will be closed to most boaters.

The Department of Navigation and Ocean Development (DNOD) says that areas not affected by the drought — Southern California lakes and reservoirs, the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta, and popular coastal areas — are crowded.

Marty Mercado, Department Diretor, reminds boaters that many of the half-million boats will crowd the waterways, so boaters should keep a watchful and courteous eye out for others.

"Even if you know all of the safety rules," Mercado said, "the other boater may not."

Many of the State's 1,000 popular boating lakes and reservoirs are affected by the drought.

While most waterbodies in S. Cal. will remain at near normal water levels, reservoirs of the State Water Project, including Perris, Silverwood, Castaic and Pyramid, will experience drawdown forcing some curtailment of recreational activities.

In N. Cal., Lake Shasta's water level will be below boat ramp levels for the second summer. Portable launching ramps are available to handle the boating traffic.

Other popular boating areas —Folsom, Tahoe, Berryessa and Clear Lake — are also open for boating, though not all the ramps will be accessible all summer.

Boaters are advised by the Department to call the parks or resorts before planning a trip and find out which facilities will be available.

DNOD, in conjunction with the Drought Information Center in Sacramento, will try to keep boaters informed of the accessibility to various lakes.

ALL-AMERICAN — A cancer fund will be established with proceeds of a football game September 9 in the name of Joe Roth, a Granite Hills grad.

Griff Game for Joe Roth Slated For September 9

Grossmont's first grid game —Griffs vs. Antelope Valley— on September 9 will be a benefit game for Joe Roth, the All-American who died of cancer February 19.

The game will be at 7 p.m. in the S.D. Stadium.

Locally, he led the Granite Hills High school team in 1973-74. The team won the state championship in 1974. An outstanding athlete, he lettered in baseball, football and basketball.

He continued his baseball and football career at Grossmont where he become JC All-American and was Grossmont's "Most Outstanding Athlete" before transferring to UC Berkeley where he became an All-American.

In attendance at guests at the September 9 game will be members of Granite Hills 1973 graduating class and the members of the 1974 State Championship team.

His parents will be flown from Idaho as guests at the game. It will be a non-conference. Tickets are $2; $1 for students.

Padres by Satellite

Sunday's Padre game with the New York Mets will be carried live from Shea Stadium via satellite by XETV-Channel 6.

Another Race Record Looms For S.V.'s Pat McIntyre

Pat McIntyre, the Spring Valley construction worker, has won four championships at the Cajon Speedway, and he may do it again.

He racked up his third win Saturday night and leads the pack by more than 500 points. He has 2,145. Mike Hagerman, in second place, has 1,635.

No other racer has won more than two championships in the past.

This Saturday night McIntyre will have his sights set on the one goal which he has worked for over the years. With his win in the 40-lap main event last week, the Spring Valley racer moved to within one main event win of all-time leader Russ Bullen of Bonita.

McIntyre has won 31 main events over the years and must be rated favorite again this Saturday night when the super stocks swing back into action on the 3/8 mile, paved oval at Gillespie Field.

Race time for the expected 55 cars will be at 8:00 p.m., with the traditional four-lap trophy dash for the four fastest qualifiers of the evening kicking things off. Following the trophy dash four 8-lap heat races will be held.

A 10-lap consolation race and a 20-lap semi will precede the 40-lap finale in which McIntyre will be making his bid to tie Bullen.

McIntyre won't be without competition Saturday night. Two time champion Tex Kimbrell of Imperial Beach has had his blue-two-tone Camaro running strong lately and it took McIntyre five laps of door-to-door racing to move past him last week. Kimbrell was third two week ago before finishing as runnerup last week.

Mike Hagerman, McIntyre's chief rival for the 1977 crown has been first and third the last two weeks and he'll have to start making up ground fast if he hopes to catch McIntyre before the end of the season and win his first title.

Others hoping to stall McIntyre's bid will be El Hale of Lakeside who moved past Lanny Pemberton into third place in the point standings last week.

Pincay Eyes Record Wins Again at Del Mar Meet

Laffit Pincay, Jr., who dominated the riding ranks en route to claiming the 1976 Del Mar jockey crown, will defend his title against a talented roster of reinsmen during the 1977 Del Mar meeting which is just one day old.

Despite missing six racing days at Del Mar last summer, Pincay outdistanced his rivals by rolling up a total of 86 victories, only eight shy of Bill Shoemaker's all-time record.

In the process, the 30-year-old Panamanian, a winner of three Eclipse Awards as the nation's outstanding journeyman rider, managed to erase Bill Shoemaker's 22-year-old mark for most stakes tallies during a single season when he scored in an even dozen added-money features.

Pincay, who has earned more money (nearly $30 million) in a shorter time (11 years) than any rider in Thoroughbred racing history, added Del Mar to his year-round schedule last summer rather than heading east as was his usual practice. The Del Mar title increased Pincay's total to 16 seasonal riding crowns at Southern California tracks since he began competing locally in 1967.

Last winter, Pincay claimed the Santa Anita championship his seventh in eight years, making him the most dominant rider in California since Bill Shoemaker, who reigned during the 1950s and middle '60s.

Shoemaker, Del Mar's all-time leader with 633 wins and 51 stakes victories, is competing at Del Mar for his 15th season. Thoroughbred racing's winningest rider captured six straight Del Mar titles from 1949-1954 before returning to the seaside track in 1970 after a 15-year hiatus to win his seventh local crown.

Adding luster to the glittering array of riding talent will be 1975 riding titlist Darrel McHargue, runner-up in last summer's jockey race; Fernando Toro, Del Mar's top stakes pilot of 1975; Mark Sellers, leading apprentice jockey at both Santa Anita and Hollywood Park; Don Pierce, second only to Shoemaker in total career stakes wins at Del Mar; Chuck Baltazar, Marco Castaneda, Jerry Lambert, Frank Olivares, Rudy Campas and other veterans.

6th Annual Bathtub Races Scheduled at Crown Point

Bathtub builders are scrubbing up their tubs in preparation for the sixth annual America's Finest City Cup Bathtub Race to be held Sunday, August 21.

Registration and inspection will begin at 8 a.m. and the water will be open for testing at 10 a.m.

Entries must be made of genuine metal, poreclain or fiberglass and the tub must conform from the waterline down to the shape of a bathtub. Tubs can have only one outboard motor which cannot exceed 7½ h.p.

Spectators are invited to participate in games and contests which will be held along the shoreline. There is no entry fee, admission or parking charge for participants or spectators.

Senior Women's Golf Tourney Offers $12,000 in Silverware

Qualifying rounds for the 3rd annual Silver Circle Senior Women's Golf Championship underway throughout southern California will continue through September 2, announced tournament coordinator Anne Miller. Her phone: (213) 994-0739.

"Last year women golfers from the great majority of southland golf clubs teed up in qualifying rounds trying to win entry into the Silver Circle Championship," said Mrs. Miller. Winning partners from 112 golf clubs become eligible to compete for close to $12,000 in sterling silver awards in the championship, to be held for the 3rd year at the Los Coyotes Country Club, in Buena Park, October 17th.

Sponsored by Home Savings & Loan Assn., the tournament has already become the nation's largest women's amateur golf event. Last year 75% of the state's 468 women's association golf clubs participated, a total of more than 8,000 women entered qualifying throughout the state.

"Women rarely have the opportunity to play in a professional style golf tournament," says LPGA pro and Silver Circle official hostess Shirley Englehorn.

Qualifying rounds at the club level are held on any regular "Ladies Day" as designated by the club's tournament chairman. There is no entry fee for qualifying at the club level.

Women golfers must be age fifty or over and have a USGA approved handicap of 32 or less to enter qualifying.

All qualifying must be played on 18-hole regulation courses. All participants receive free gifts on qualifying day and are entered in the grand prize drawing for a Princess Cruise for two.

Top Runners Vie At Los Alamitos

LOS ALAMITOS — The top two distance runners on the grounds Big Badger Bar and Kips Son, will collide for the first time this summer in Friday's 870 yard Pap Stakes while Deck-em attempts to unseat Little Blue Sheep in Saturday's Miss Princess Stakes for mare of the meeting honors.

Both Big Badger Bar and Kips Son will be saddled by Los Alamitos' leading trainer Blane Schvaneveldt for their anticipated duel over the Vessels Sr. Course they have dominated the past two years. Big Badger Bar has already won the Endurance and El Ocho Setenta Stakes for owner Ellis Gragg this summer, giving the Big Badger King runner four wins in six 1977 starts. The 6-year-old gelding won seven of 14 tests last season worth $43,000.

Kips Son won his only summer try July 9 in the Table Tennis Stakes and was the odds-on favorite against Big Badger Bar in the winter meeting's Bull Rastus championship event. Big Badger Bar ended Kips Son's four race win streak with a convincing two - and - one - half length score in the Bull Rastus to atone for a defeat in their previous encounter—the $25,000 Marathon last summer.

It remains the only loss for Kips Son in eight marathon races since the 4-year-old began running the 870 last August. By the thoroughbred Kiptydoo, Kips Son has won three of six this year though two of the defeats came in quarter mile allowance dashes. Leading jockey Danny Cardoza has been his rider for the last year.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

There's something about the days of summer that seems to make people want to open up the throttle, pull out all the stops and race with the wind.

Check that. At least two species known to this portable pounder choose not to make haste. People who owe you money and horses on which you wager a bob or two. They are guaranteed to move slowly.

But despite the lazy sun and warm feeling one gets on the beaches, the turn of the calendar from July to August seems done with rush of movement, the pounding of feet and the flash of footballs in the air.

The Chargers are up and running everyday at 9:30 and again at 3:30 when the heat of the day has passed. Tommy Prothro's Troops are running harder and faster than ever before but that's to be expected when you add a couple of winged feet characters to your cast the way Tommy and owner Gene Klein did over the last "off" season.

Joe Dan Washington is mended after ripping a knee in last year's third preseason contest. Joe Dan was forced out for the campaign, but is up and running with speed of sound this workout season and bringing great smiles to the faces of Eugene Victor Klein and James Thompson Prothro.

Not only do they love to see Joe Dan sprinting here and there but across the field they get yet another warm glow with the antics of wide receiver John Steven Rodgers, who delayed his arrival from Nebraska by a detour through the Canadian League and has taken four years to don Charger Lightning Stripes after being drafted as numero uno in 1973.

"Oh, Yeah," you say. "The Chargers always look great this time of year. But what happens when the season starts? Nothing, that's what."

Hold on there, Tiger. Each year a sports team is born again. Born on the dreams and abilities of those who didn't quite do it last year.

And that's really what sports are all about. You go out and try your best and if it isn't good enough this time, you get to try and try again. There's only one SuperBowl Champion, but aren't you mighty glad everybody else is screaming to take that crown away from the Oaklands?

Get with it guys. One of the real rewards in life is to enjoy and share in the success of a team to which you've been loyal during the "rebuilding" years. Anybody can jump on a front runner, but there's a satisfying richness in knowing you've been with them all along.

That's probably what makes the gathering of the Charger Backers so much a part of the game. They live and die with their Sunday Heros, and come back for more with hope and a promise of "next year," when arch rivals like Oakland enjoy "temporary" success over THEIR TEAM. Join the Backers, they're fun.

Even the most loyal Charger Backer knows however, that Prothro can't win without the horses. And, they also know, this campaign Johnny Sanders and Tank Younger, Gene Klein's talent agents, have assembled a cast of worthy applicants for Prothro's favor.

Quarterback James Harris will have speed to hit and time to find it. Rogers and Washington add their talents to what has already been measured the best corps of running backs in the NFL.

The defensive line is bigger and faster and meaner than ever before. Louis Kelcher looks to mature into one of the great defensive lineman of the game. LeRoy Jones is up to 270 or so and Fred Dean and Gary Lynn Johnson are a year older and ready to prove to the world that San Diego really does have a defense.

The first exhibition games comes at you next week, Aug. 6 in a TV special from Dallas. With all that running, sooner or later you know someone has started a football season.

'Little Red' Lopez Tops Friday Fight Card

Two 10-rounders top the boxing card Friday at San Diego's Coliseum. One of them stars the featherweight champion.

That would be Danny "Little Red" Lopez, L.A., the current title holder who is scheduled to mix it with Jose Olivarez of Mexico. Olivares fought Art Hafey, the San Diego Shotgun, three times. Although Olivares lost by a decision in each of the fights, he was never dropped. Few who fought Hafey have gone through the entire fight without being dropped at least once.

In a companion 10-rounder — this one between bantamweights — Oscar Muniz of L.A. with a 13-0 record meets Raul Pacheco of Mexicali. Muniz is the nephew of no. 2 world-ranked welterweight Armando Muniz.

In a special 6-round lightweight clash, Harman 'Kid' Montes of Long Beach goes against Scipio Stubbs of L.A. Stubbs has made several crowd-pleasing appearances here.

In a 4-rounder, Eric Bonilla of Paradise Hills fights Rick Alford of Anaheim.

Two amateur matches are also on the card.

The first fights starts at 8:15. The Coliseum is at 15th and E sts. in downtown San Diego.

$100,000 for Cyclists

European and American Formula 750 motorcycle racers will compete at the Laguna Seca Raceway on the Monterey Peninsula for the Champion Spark Plug 200 September 9-11.

Wings of a Chick

The first U.S. woman to pilot an airplane was Neta Snook Southern, who began her aviation career in 1917. She taught Amelia Earhart to fly.

'Rooster Tails' to Aid Boys Clubs in Fall Race

The 'grand finale' of the hydroplane racing season, the Jack in the Box Thunderbirds Unlimited Race, is scheduled to be held September 18, at Mission Bay in San Diego.

The race course at Mission Bay is the ideal place for the "rooster tails". The sea level altitude keeps the boats' motors running at an ideal temperature and the heaviness of the salt water allows the boats to move faster than they can in fresh water.

It is also the only race course in the United States constructed specifically to meet the requirements of unlimited hydroplane racing.

The season, so far, has been an exciting one with veteran champion, Bill Muncey, taking an early lead with the first win of the season in Miami on May 22 in his new Atlas Van Lines cabover. This win was followed by others in successive races in Washington, D.C. and Detroit, Michigan.

Surging forward to capture the Governor's Cup at the Madison, Indiana race and take the lead in racing points was Micky Remund driving the famous Miss Budweiser.

Owensboro, Kentucky, gave Muncey his 42nd career win and his fourth victory of the 1977 season.

The 48 year old La Mesan set three new course records on the Ohio River walking away with the Penzoil Fast Lap Award with a 119.403 mph clocking.

Taking the lead again in Dayton, Ohio, Remund and the Miss Budweiser gave owner Bernie Little his 27th victory July 17. This win tied the sport's all-time owner record.

The San Diego race is organized and conducted by an association of the Boys' Clubs of San Diego and the Thunderboats Unlimited Club.

The Boys' Clubs of San Diego, Inc. are the recipients of all proceeds from the race. The money the club receives will come from sponsorships, services, admissions, program sales, advertising and concessions. It will be spent to increase activities at the Clubs' four branches in Logan Heights, Linda Vista, Clairmont and Encanto.

The Thunderboats Unlimited is a volunteer boat organization who come together each year to put the race on. They are the motivating force in getting the boats here and handling all the technical aspects of the race. —

Three Wrestlers To Leave Town After Fri. Tilts

Next week the exodus.

Three of the professional wrestlers at the S.D. Coliseum will be leaving town.

For example, Roddy Piper and Keith Franks battle with the loser leaving.

A half hour later the winner of that fight tussles with K. O. Franks. The loser of that one leaves town, too.

J. J. Dillon grapples with Victor Rivera — and the loser leaves.

If Rivera is the loser, he'll stay long enough to referee a match the same evening between Chavo Guererro and Texas Red. In that fray there will be no time limit and no disqualifications.

In a finale, Bill Ash goes against Tom Jones.

Matches start at 7:30 and admission discounts are given to juniors, seniors and military. The Coliseum is at 15th and E sts.

NFIB Urges Changes In Social Security

An alternative proposal to change the nation's Social Security program was recently outlined before the Senate Finance Committee's Subcommittee on Social Security by the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB).

The proposal, developed in response to the Carter administration's plan, would force persons not contributing to Social Security to pay part of the subsidy given low income retirees; it also favors full benefits to working wives and opposes the administration's elimination of the wage ceiling for Social Security taxes.

The NFIB plan also calls for dividing the current Old Age and Survivors Insurance program into two parts.

B Of A Stock Active After Stock Split

Bank of America has reported a 17.8 percent increase in profits for the first half of this year.

According to BofA president, A. W. Clausen, the consolidated income before securities transactions was $175.9 million, up 17.8 per cent from the $149.3 million logged for the first six months of 1976.

Each share of the bank's stock earned $1.21, up 12 per cent from the $1.08 stock earnings from a year ago. The percentage is adjusted to reflect the two for one stock split of August 1976.

The second quarter consolidated income before the securities transactions rise of 18.2 per cent was the chief reason for the increases.

What You Should Know

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

Summer Health Hazards

The American Medical Association has compiled tips on keeping cool and healthy during the summer heat.

The AMA points out there are some things you can do to be more comfortable.

—Stay out of the sun as much as possible especially during the middle of the day.

—Wear light clothes.

—Drink more liquids than usual.

—Take extra salt only on your physician's advice and particularly heed his advice if you have liver, kidney, or heart conditions.

—Take a shower or dip in a pool once or twice a day.

—Get plenty of sleep.

—Eat regularly.

Also the AMA suggested doing the heavy work during the cool of the day, in either early morning or evening.

Exercise is also just as important in the summer as in winter yet the wise word is "don't overdo".

Some bacteria which cause food spoilage mutiply much faster in summer and grow especially well in lukewarm foods. Keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold.

Also listed as summertime health hazards are heat and sun strokes, tetanus, and sun burn.

Should heat or sun stroke occur, keep the victim cool and call a doctor. Tetanus (lockjaw) can be controlled through booster shots and best cure for sun burn is prevention. Lie in the sun only for a few hours each day.

Lemon Grove, CPO's Newest Member City

The county's 14th and newest incorporated city — Lemon Grove — has joined the Comprehensive Planning Organization (CPO), the region's "council of governments."

The new City Council, led by Mayor James Dorman, unanimously voted to become a member of CPO and thereby take part in region-wide planning activities.

The Council selected Councilman W. Dale Bailey, a Presbyterian minister, to be its representative on the CPO Board of Directors. Mayor Dorman, an attorney, was named as alternate.

Prior to their vote Council members were presented with a resolution from the CPO Board, congratulating them on their new leadership roles. The new City was invited to join with the other thirteen incorporated jurisdictions and the County of San Diego, which make up the CPO membership.

The presentation was made by CPO Board Chairwoman Lorraine Boyce (Councilwoman-Escondido), accompanied by CPO staff members Debra Greenfield, staff counsel, and Pam Engebretson, public communications.

Wilderness permits are required for any camping or hiking in the Wilderness and these may be obtained from the rangers in Long Valley or by writing the State Park office in Idyllwild. No permits may be obtained by telephone.

Picnic facilities are available in Long Valley, a short one-half mile from the Tram's Mountain Lodge.

Those who do not wish to hike may enjoy a Western Steak Barbecue served on the upper patio after 4 p.m. From here, the views are spectacular. Framed by magnificent pines, the desert floor stretches out below. The observation terraces are replete with telescopes for a close-up view of the communities below.

Iris Sankey Suggests

Keep Purchase Records On Autos Bought Overseas

If you are planning a vacation overseas and buying a car during your travels is included in your plans, there are some important facts you should know about bringing your vehicle back to California. According to Iris Sankey, member of the State Board of Equalization, under the California Sales and Use Tax Law, administered by the State Board of Equalization, vehicles purchased outside the United States for Use in California and later imported into this state are subject to a use tax.

This is a state tax and is separate from the federal customs import duty. Frequently, purchasers are under the impression that the state tax is included in the fees they pay when they claim the vehicle at the port of entry, but this is not the case.

The amount of tax due is based upon six percent of the full delivered purchase price of the vehicle and all accessories, without deduction for any trade-in allowance or down payment.

Therefore, it is important to retain copies of the original purchase agreement and the delivery invoice as evidence of the correct price. Without such documents, the use tax may be based on the fair market value at the time of purchase, which may be higher than the actual purchase price.

There are circumstances under which you may be eligible for an exemption from the tax. For instance, you may make claim for an exemption if a period in excess of 90 days elapses between the date you accept actual delivery of the vehicle overseas and the date you deliver it to the forwarding agent for shipment, providing you make normal use of the vehicle overseas during the entire period claimed.

It is important to note that time in storage awaiting shipment and actual shipping time may not be included when computing the 90-day period.

You must furnish evidence which verifies your claim to the Board. This evidence may be in the form of airline ticket receipts, hotel receipts, delivery invoice, pre-shipment survey and price sheet or passport.

One problem which occurs is when the purchasers complete their California registration of the new vehicle with the Department of Motor Vehicles, they believe they have discharged their entire obligation to the state on the purchase and they subsequently dispose of the papers.

However, vehicle registration and title transfer fees are separate and distinct from the use tax.

While the Department of Motor Vehicles acts as agent for the Board of Equalization in collecting use tax on vehicles, it remains the responsibility of the Board to review these purchases.

This review normally will be made within three months from the date that registration of the vehicle is completed.

Therefore, it is important to retain all items relating to an exemption claim until your file has been closed by the Board.

'Cinderella' to Open Opera Center Season

The San Diego Opera Center, under the direction of Tito Capobianco, will present six performances of Giacchino Rossini's opera "La Cenerentola" (Cinderella) in English at the Spreckels Auditorium.

The holiday presentation will open with a Thanksgiving Day performance on Thursday, November 24, and will continue with performances on November 25, 26 and 27.

Long a favorite with music lovers, the two act opera premiered at the Teatro Valle in Rome in January of 1817. The American premiere was given at the Park Theater in New York in 1826. Jacopo Ferretti based his libretto on the fairy tale of Charles Perrault.

The San Diego Opera Center, a performing and training program for young artists, was conceived and founded by General Director Capobianco to provide the bridge necessary for young talent in the operatice field to progress from training and preparation to a professional career. In this, its inaugural year, the Center will provide training for eight singers, who were chosen in the San Diego Opera Awards Auditions held in March.

Beginning in September the eight finalists will undergo an intensive six week, in-residence training program at the Center. The culmination of this program will be a special appearance in October in which the young artists will each perform publicly. Those singers who are available will also appear in the production of "La Cenerentola."

Screening Post Goes to Hamilton

S.D. attorney Thomas M. Hamilton, was named by U.S. Senator Alan Cranston (D., Calif.) last week to temporarily replace Richard Silberman as chairman of the California judicial screening commission.

Silberman had resigned to avoid possible conflict of interest while the commission considers applicants for U. S. Attorney for the San Diego (southern) district. The commission is expected to submit a list of three to five finalists to California Senators Cranston and Hayakawa and the California Bar Assn. in three weeks.

The commission had also informed Cranston that Los Angeles attorney Sam Williams was elected by its members to succeed Silberman as commission chairman.

'Pond & Puddle' Bill Wins Cabinet Support

Secretary of the Interior Cecil D. Andrus recently expressed his support for Senator Frank Church's (D., Idaho) efforts to return control over non-navigable waterways back to the states.

Under the 1972 Federal Water Pollution Control Act and a 1975 court ruling the Corps of Engineers was permitted to exercise control over navigable and non-navigable waters.

Senator Church has prepared a bill for introduction in the Senate which, as Andrus stated, would "eliminate the red tape and conflicts of the federal presence in every pond and backyard puddle."

Wilson Riles Replies

Serrano Will Change the Way The State Finances Schools

Editor's Note:

The United States Supreme Court ruled June 20 to let the decision of the California State Supreme Court stand in the case of John Serrano versus Ivy Baker Priest.

The decision by the U. S. Supreme Court ends the long fight Serrano began in 1968 against funding differences between rich and poorer school districts.

As a brief background to the case, Serrano filed suit in Los Angeles Superior Court in 1968 against the then state treasurer Ivy Baker Priest.

Serrano and nine other parents in the Baldwin Park Unified School District were enraged after they found the state was returning $577 per pupil to their school district while returning some $1,200 per pupil to another Los Angeles County school district, the Beverly Hills Unified School District.

While the issue bounced through the courts for some six years, finally during the summer of 1974, Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Bernard Jefferson ruled in favor of John Serrano.

The state treasurer's office appealed the decision to the California Supreme Court. That court reaffirmed the decision made by Judge Jefferson in Los Angeles on December 30, 1976.

The state treasurer's office appealed again, this time to the highest court in the land, the United States Supreme Court. The high court then ruled June 20, some nine years later, John Serrano was right.

Mandated in the decision was this simple order to the state: find another, more equitable way of financing the schools or else.

Currently schools are being financed by a tax rate determined by assessed valuation of property. Richer districts, such as the Beverly Hills district, have higher property values and subsequently have taxpayers with greater abilities to pay for schools.

The following is a series of articles on the subject by State Superintendent of Public Education Wilson Riles.

SACRAMENTO — Children and taxpayers in California are being cheated by the way our public schools are financed.

That's what the California Supreme Court said last December in ruling on a case known as Serrano vs. Priest. And that's why the state legislature has been hard at work since January trying to reform California's school finance system.

The court said many children are being shortchanged because the quality of the schooling they receive is linked too closely to the value of property in the school district in which they live. If they live in a district with high property wealth per pupil, the chances are they receive better schooling than if they live in what is known as a low property wealth district, the court said.

That's because taxpayers in high property wealth districts can raise more money for schools with a much lower tax rate than can taxpayers in low property wealth districts.

A school that spends $3,000 per pupil is far more likely to be able to attract more — and more qualified — personnel and to provide its students with a wider variety of learning options than a school that spends less than $1,000.

The state supreme court said such differences in per pupil spending due to differences in local district property wealth are illegal. The court gave the state legislature until September 1980 to develop a more equitable means of funding public schools.

Legislature's Role

In the next few weeks the governor and legislators have a unique opportunity to resolve this complex situation once and for all — or at least for many years to come.

Efforts to reform our school finance system, generated by the Serrano decision, are helped dramatically by the availability of sufficient state funds due to an estimated $2.5 billion state budget surplus.

Their decision is also critical because public schooling is California's biggest business.

It involves more children than there are people in 34 states. California spends an average of $1,595 on each of 4.5 million students from kindergarten through the 12th grade. The cost to California taxpayers is over $6.4 billion a year.

The state's 1,042 local school districts employ 364,000 people to manage and operate 7,045 schools, making public schooling the single largest employer in the state.

In trying to resolve the Serrano decision, state officials must consider the quality of public schooling in California. Legally, the issue raised by Serrano is one of equity, not one of quality. The quality of public schooling available to California children can be equally good or equally poor and still fulfill the mandate of the state supreme court.

Even today, California's education system is not spending as much as many people believe. Although California's 21.7 million residents have the 11th highest per capita income in the nation, it ranks only 18th among the states in per capita expenditures on public schooling. And it ranks 17th in actual per-pupil expenditures. We cannot afford to slip further. To do so will place us below the national average on both counts.

Requirements By The Court

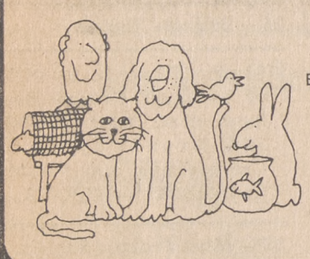
The requirements of Serrano can be met without dismantling basic elements of our public school system. Despite widespread misconceptions, the court:

- Did not outlaw property taxes as a means of financing public schools.
- Did not require that all schools spend the same amount of money for the education of each child.
- Did not order the state to assume 100 per cent of all local school costs.
- Did not abolish local control of public schools.
- Did not rule out the possibility that local property tax revenues might still be part of an acceptable school finance system.

The court also recognized that different kinds of children require different kinds of schooling, some of which cost more than others. It said that full state funding is only one of many options available in meeting the court mandate. And a new state school finance program does not require any lessening of state-delegated authority to local citizens.

What the court did say to Californians is to start treating children and taxpayers fairly.

YOU AND YOUR PET



By Robert L. Stear, D.V.M.

Pet Discipline

Most cats and dogs need some discipline to remain welcome members of the modern household. Whether you have a young pet or an older one, here are some ideas about disciplining your pet.

First, remember that discipline is not a substitute for training. Discipline is a technique that both corrects your pet and recalls the original training.

Second, pets (like children), have short memories. This correction must come soon after the pet has misbehaved.

Talk to your pet in a tone that indicates your disapproval and try to use the same phrase — "bad dog" or something similar each time.

Finally, also remember to praise your pet when it behaves well. Pets enjoy praise too and your praise will encourage repetition of the desired behavior.

If you find yourself reprimanding your dog frequently for the same mistake, don't be discouraged. It's been estimated that the average dog takes about four days to learn the average task, so you must be prepared to repeat the basic lesson a number of times.

Don't become angry and overdiscipline your pet if it has not had sufficient opportunity to understand what you want.

Too many pet owners confuse good discipline with harsh discipline. They think severe physical punishment, rough handling and shouting produce a more obedient pet.

This type of treatment may teach some pets to mind, but it will also teach your pet to mistrust you. The true basis for obedience — especially your dog — is respect.

If you are consistent in your demands and offer rewards for good behavior, your dog should willingly accept you as master. Your pet should perform correctly because he wants to please you, not because he is afraid of you.

Let's look at a typical pet problem — housebreaking a new puppy — with these idea in mind.

Suppose your puppy knows where he should eliminate and still soils the carpet one evening after dinner. It is proper discipline to rub the puppy's nose on the wet spot? I think not.

The only thing this will teach your puppy is that you are unhappy to have discovered his act; probably he will choose a spot out of sight next time. It's better to rap a folded newspaper across the puppy's hindquarters two or three times; scold your pet and then place him in the proper toilet area.

The paddling and scolding catches your pet's attention and announces you are unhappy; being placed in the proper area reminds the pet of the correct place for elimination.

As you reprimand your pet for various mistakes, you might consider why the pet is misbehaving. If you can eliminate ignorance and stubbornness, there is the possibility of a medical problem, especially if your pet is older.

A dog with hidden kidney disease needs an increased amount of water and will urinate more frequently. If you are not home during the day, you pet may not be able to wait until you let him out, and the result appears to be deliberate disobedience.

In some cases, pets may misbehave because they resent being left alone for long periods. Others are very possessive and look at new spouses or children as competitors. Any of these reasons may cause your pet to ignore toilet training or scratch furniture.

Regardless of the problem, your first step is to understand your pet, and then to apply the proper training and discipline. If you need assistance, check with your veterinarian.

This Week's Question:

The tires on my car are getting worn and with today's inflated tire prices I can't afford new tires. When do I have to change tires?

This Week's Answer:

The law prohibits anyone from driving on a tire when less than 1/32 inch of tread depth remains in any two adjacent grooves in the tire. A simple means of checking your tire is to insert a Roosevelt dime into the tread, with the top of his head facing the tire. If the depth of the tread is greater than the distance from the edge of the dime to the top of Roosevelt's head, then the tire is legal. However, being legal is not always safe. It is a good idea to replace tires before they reach this stage since a worn tire is more apt to hydroplane on wet pavement than a newer tire.

Mini-Truck Business Growing Like Vans Did

A phenomenon in the truck market — the personal use buyer — is creating a demand for mini-trucks that "shows signs of catching fire and heading east just as it did with vans," according to Jim Byrnes, sales manager at Corral Ford in Lemon Grove.

"The tremendous surge in Californians' light-truck purchases for personal transportation is jumping right off the sales charts," Byrnes said.

"Years ago when we asked truck owners how they used their vehicles, their answers always had a business ring — 'to get from Point A to Point B'. Although this business usage still exists, today's buyers are utilizing the load-carrying capacity of mini-trucks in new ways — to go camping at Lake Tahoe, to move dirt bikes to the Baja Peninsula and to transport surf boards to Malibu."

Byrnes said vehicles like Ford's Japanese-made Courier are fast displacing vans in the personal-use marketplace. "A recent study shows that 62 per cent of van owners buy them for non-business purposes. But today's sales leaders are the minis, with 66 per cent of the owners using them for personal rather than business reasons. What's more, 60 per cent of the vehicles taken in trade on mini-trucks are passenger cars."

As further evidence that the mini-market is unique, recent changes in the geographic sales pattern were cited. "Approximately 10 per cent of the U. S. industry's total truck output — from minis to heavy-duty haulers — is sold in California," Byrnes reported. "By contrast, nearly 30 per cent of the mini-trucks in the U. S. are purchased by Californians. If this west-coast trend continues, mini-trucks could become as popular as vans, hula hoops and skateboards all across the country."

Organ Transplant Center Needs Kidney Donors

Formation of the new organ transplant center at University Hospital needs more than funding to be successful — it needs donated organs, especially kidneys.

The organ transplant center will serve San Diego and Imperial counties and provide a centralized facility to handle all donated organs, corneas and skin as well as kidneys.

It will provide doctors with a single location where they can arrange for use of organs in compliance with the wishes of deceased patients for the benefit of those who are in need of organ transplants, according to Dr. Nicholas A. Halasz, chief of Kidney Transplantation Services.

A single phone call to the new center will provide the doctor with the information he needs regarding availability of compatible organs for patients in need of transplants.

The Center would also be able to contact a patient's doctor if an appropriate organ became available.

Donated kidneys are currently in short supply and badly needed. Patients who are waiting for donated kidneys spend as much as six hours daily, three times a week, in a hemodialysis unit while their blood is "purified", a process normally taken care of by a healthy functioning kidney.

"A kidney donor with two healthy kidneys could release two patients from this weekly discomfort and allow them to lead normal lives," Dr. Halasz noted.

Donating organs can mean the gift of life to another. And becoming a donor is simple, requiring only an individual's signature, indicating what organs the person wishes to donate at the time of his or her death.

"Removal of donated organs is not a disfiguring process and should not interfere with normal funeral plans," said Dr. Halasz.

The Uniform Donor Card authorizes medical personnel to remove and use for transplantation, therapy, medical research or education, any or all organs or parts designated by the donor. Prospective donors wishing to sign such a card must be 18 years of age and in generally good health, although parents of minor children can give verbal permission in the event of the death of a child.

Dr. Halasz urged that next of kin and other family members be aware of an individual's wish to donate organs so that such transplants can take place with the speed required to maintain the organ in a healthy condition.

In order to more easily identify donors, the California Department of Motor Vehicles provides Uniform Organ Donor stickers to be placed on the back of driver's licenses.

Donor Cards and other material can be obtained from the Donated Organ Program, P.O. Box 3051, San Diego, Ca. 92103, or by telephoning the Kidney Foundation, 297-0616.

Williams recently hosted a meeting with top state officials and civic leaders on auto insurance fraud and high car insurance premiums.

Radio-Active Waste Burial

There will be sufficient burial sites for low-level radioactive waste from the Sundesert Nuclear Plant which SDG&E plans to build by 1990, a nuclear safety expert told the state Energy Commission last week.

Low-level wastes are usually pieces of equipment, clothing or tools contaminated with radioactive particles which either rapidly decay or give off very low levels of radioactivity.

Home Federal to Open Two New Offices

Overindulgers Aided By Consumer Brochure

The latest from the Consumer Information Center in Colorado is a free brochure titled "How To Keep the Life of the Party Alive."

The brochure, the work of ideas put together by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, suggests:

—drive overindulgers home for they can always come back for their cars in the morning,

—or suggest they stay overnight.

If they insist on driving, take the keys away from them,

—if that does not work, physically restrain them,

—call a taxi for them and pay for it if necessary,

—keep your parties with plenty to munch on to cushion the effects of alcohol, — and about one hour before things break-up, offer coffee.

The brochure, filled with other ideas to keep your overindulging friends from creating carnage on the highways, is available for a postcard to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 664E, Pueblo, Colorado 81009.
